REASON FOR ALLOWANCE

1. Turner et al disclose a traveling apparatus comprising a main frame, idler and sprocket wheels, track roller rotatably provided in a lower portion of the track frame, and a crawler belt wound around the idler, the track roller and the sprocket, a rear frame mounted to the vehicle frame by two mounting pins. Kolak et al disclose a traveling apparatus comprising a main frame, idler and sprocket wheels, track roller rotatably provided in a lower portion of the track frame, and a crawler belt wound around the idler, the track roller and the sprocket, a rear frame mounted to the vehicle frame by two mounting pins, two shafts respectively mounted to the left and right sides of a rear end portion of the main frame to receive hydraulic cylinders for moving the spade. Gee et al and Tonsor et al disclose various types of traveling apparatus comprising a main frame, idler and sprocket wheels, track roller rotatably provided in a lower portion of the track frame, and a crawler belt wound around the idler, the track roller and the sprocket, a rear frame mounted to rotating shafts of the vehicle frame. However, none of the references of record suggests a traveling apparatus wherein left and right track frames are mounted to pivot shafts that are mounted to the rear end portion of the main frame, in addition to a rear frame having a horizontal shaft apparatus for supplying power to the left and right sprockets arranged therein is suspended to a rear portion of the main frame so as to freely swing in the vertical direction, final reduction gear including sprockets are respectively attached to the right and left outer sides of the rear frame so as to connect an output shaft of the horizontal shaft apparatus to an input shaft of the final reduction gear in the manner defined in the instant claim 1. Therefore, claims 2-3, depending therefrom are considered to be allowable.
